

Performing Arts Fund for Excellence

HACC, Central Pennsylvania's Community College, recognizes the importance of having a strong performing arts presence. Access to creative performances has positive benefits on the student learning environment and strengthens the artistic culture in the community. That is why we are committed to having a robust performing arts series at our Rose Lehrman Arts Center.

The Live at Rose Lehrman Performing Artist Series allows HACC to bring outstanding guest artists in music, theatre and dance to both HACC's Harrisburg Campus and the community. The series impacts over 2,000 people through performances and outreach activities each year. YOUR support of the Performing Arts Fund for Excellence will broaden the performing arts representation at the Rose Lehrman Arts Center through innovative initiatives like:

The Live at Rose Lehrman Performing Artist Series

HACC can bring outstanding guest artists in music, theatre and dance to both the College and Central Pennsylvania community and extend their visits so the artists can interact with students and community members.

Getting to the Core Program

Artists can engage with HACC students via masterclasses, workshops, lectures and integration in non-arts classrooms, adding experiential learning to faculty instruction.

EdGe (Educating the Next Generation through the Arts) program

In collaboration with the artists, local schools and nonprofit organizations, HACC can reach underserved children in our community. This allows us to bring an arts presence to children who might not otherwise receive it.

In a time when arts programs are often cut because of budget constraints, HACC remains committed to providing an innovative performing arts program for both our students and our community. YOU can help ensure that the performing arts program at HACC remains strong by visiting hacc.edu/GiveNow to make a gift to the Performing Arts Fund for Excellence.

"I have always loved acting and I wanted a career that would always push me past my limit and a career that I could grow and continue to learn more about myself. So I chose fine arts."

-Brittanie S. McGirt, HACC Student
