- Walk on level surfaces whenever possible, and avoid walking on wet or frozen grass and uneven surfaces where it is difficult to get solid footings.
- Wear sensible weather resistant shoes, boots, or footwear that provides good traction, such as shoes with good rubber or slip resistant soles, or snow and climbing boots with deep treads, or cleats for ice.
- Avoid taking shortcuts in areas unfamiliar to you or across snow piles, frozen ponds or rough country where balance and/or footing is precarious and unsafe.
- Avoid carrying packages etc. over slippery surfaces and use handrails, when available, for support. Avoid causing indoor slipping hazards by keeping wet outer garments and umbrellas from dripping and by wiping footwear carefully on the mats provided.
- Keep away from snow plowing, sanding, and salting equipment or machinery cleaning sidewalks etc. )))
