

HACC York Campus: Video Tour

<https://youtu.be/kJbXviga44I>

[Video opens on wide aerial shot of York Campus Governor George M. Leader Building. The HACC logo and “York Campus” appear over the aerial shot.]

VOICEOVER:

Thank you for joining us on the tour of HACC’s York Campus. We welcome students from surrounding counties, local school districts and even all over the world through our online learning options.

[The video transitions to a shot just inside the entrance of the York Campus Cytex Building.]

VO:

HACC’s York Campus offers associate degrees, certificate and diploma programs in areas like business, the arts and psychology.

[The shot slides into an aerial shot of the exterior of the Cytex building.]

VO:

The York Campus consists of three academic buildings.

[The video slides to an interior shot of Leader Building just outside the Welcome Center. A label rises under the image reading “Governor George M. Leader.”]

VO:

The Governor George M. Leader Building includes student services and classrooms.

[The images slides into a shot of the windows looking into the Welcome Center. A label rises under the image reading “Welcome Center.” The video slides into a shot of a student being helped by an employee at the Welcome Center desk, then to the employee helping the student at a computer station in the Welcome Center.]

VO:

The first stop is the Welcome Center, which is the one-stop hub that helps students get started with their HACC experience. Our helpful staff will provide assistance with the HACC application, registering for classes and understanding payment options.

[The video slides into a shot of an employee meeting with a student in their office. A series of labels rises under the image reading “Financial Aid,” “Advising,” “Career Services” and “Student Access Services.”]

VO:

Financial aid, advising, career services and Student Access Services are located near the Welcome Center.

[The video slides into a shot of the security office. A label rises under the image reading “Public Safety & Security.” The shot slides to a photo of a vehicle parked outside.]

VO:

The Public Safety and Security Department is also located just inside the Leader Building. Our security officers are on campus to provide a safe environment for students, employees and guests. Did you know that they provide security escorts and lock-out and jump start vehicle services?

[The photo slides into a shot of the Learning Commons. A label rises under the image reading "Learning Commons." The shot slides to a photo of an accounting and math tutoring table, then to a photo of a science tutoring room.]

VO:

As you continue through the building, you will discover the Learning Commons. Students can go here to receive individual or group tutoring in subjects like math, science and more.

[The shot slides off and two photos slide on screen of collaboration classrooms. Two more collaboration classroom images slide on to replace those.]

VO:

Multiple collaboration classrooms are located throughout the Leader Building and include smartboard and projection technology to offer learning flexibility for students.

[The photos slide off and two new images of nursing labs slide on. A label rises under the image reading "Nursing."]

VO:

We are #HACCproud that our nursing students can practice in a state-of-the-art simulation lab and on equipment found in today's hospitals.

[The images slide off and two new ones slide on of the library. A label rises under the image reading "Library." Two new library images slide on and replace those images.]

VO:

You will also find our library staff ready and willing to assist you. From research assistance to streaming videos and books, our library is full of information.

[The photos slide off and a video slides on following a student walking into the bookstore and walking up to the desk. A label rises under the image reading "Bookstore."]

VO:

Finally - the HACC Bookstore. Whether you need textbooks for the upcoming semester, supplies or you're simply looking for some HACC swag, our bookstore is there for all your needs.

[The shot slides into an aerial shot of the William F. Goodling Center. A label rises under the image reading "William F. Goodling Center."]

VO:

Our jewelry and ceramics lab are located in the William F. Goodling Center.

[The video slides to a shot of two students talking in the student lounge, which slides into a group of students on a couch in the student lounge. Another shot slides on of a student working independently in the lounge, followed by a shot of two students laughing together in the lounge.]

VO:

The lounge is where student leaders meet, and students can enjoy a space to socialize. It's also a comfortable space to study and gather with friends.

[The video slides into a wide aerial shot of the Cytec Building. A label rises under the image reading "Cytec Building." The video slides into a closer aerial shot of the Cytec Building, showing the outdoor seating area behind the HACC sign.]

VO:

As you continue through the campus, you will see the Cytec Building - and perhaps students enjoying a beautiful day on the second-floor outdoor terrace.

[The video slides to a shot of a Cytec Building sign, then slides into a photo of a smart classroom, followed by a photo of a conference room, and a photo of the gym.]

VO:

As you travel inside the Cytec building, you will find SMART classrooms, conference rooms and a fitness studio complete with wood floors, a mirrored wall and mobile fitness equipment for classes such as yoga, self-defense and more.

[The image slides to a shot of the entrance to the art gallery. It then slides to a panning shot of the interior of the gallery space.]

VO:

Plus, we have an art gallery to showcase artwork throughout by our students, faculty and local artists.

[The video slides to a shot of an instructor speaking to a group of students in the art classroom. It then slides into a video of an art student drawing on an easel, followed by another shot of a student drawing on an easel.]

VO:

The Cytec Building annex includes a lab for students in art and photography programs. It provides ample studio space for drawing, painting and two-dimensional design.

[The shot slides to a photo of the Mac computer lab.]

VO:

The annex also includes a Mac computer lab.

[The image slides to an aerial shot of the entrance to the Leader Building. It then slides to a video of employees standing in front of the Leading Building entrance smiling and waving. The text "start@hacc.edu" appears on screen.]

VO:

Thank you for joining us on the tour of HACC's York Campus. You set the bar. HACC will help you reach it. To start YOUR HACC journey, please email start@hacc.edu.