Fund for Excellence for Open Educational Resources (OER)
https://youtu.be/QLxBm34tR4c

[Fade in music]
[Fade in on HACC employee helping a HACC student at a computer]

VOICEOVER
HACC, Central Pennsylvania's Community College, believes in helping students overcome barriers that could prevent them from completing their studies

[Cut to tutor assisting a student]

VO
and transforming their lives and the lives of their families.

[Cut to student in library study room studying]

VO
The costs associated with textbooks,

[Cut to stacks of books and notebooks and students studying in the background]

VO
lab manuals,

[Cut to student turning pages of book in front of computer station]

VO
course materials

[Cut to shot of Gettysburg bookstore entrance]

VO
and other resources create financial burden for many HACC students.

[Cut to close up of student taking notes in notebook in front of laptop]

VO
Open educational resources, or OER, are free or heavily discounted

[Cut to close up of students fingers typing on tablet device]

VO
academic materials that provide equal access for all students –

[Cut to close up of student wearing headphones and writing notes]

VO
no matter their socioeconomic status.

[Fade to blank screen with text animating on screen in sync with the voiceover: 2019, 22 Faculty, 13 Open Education Resource Projects, 2,284 students, 13%, $196,000 per semester]

VO
In 2019, 22 HACC faculty members developed 13 OER projects. These projects will impact 2,284 students or roughly 13 percent of the HACC student population – saving them $196,000 per semester in textbook costs!

[Fade to instructor helping student at computer with text on screen that reads: The Fund for Excellence for Open Educational Resources Please go to hacc.edu/excellence]

VO
Please consider a contribution to the Fund for Excellence for Open Educational Resources. Thank you!