[Fade in music]

ADAM WALTER

My name is Adam Walter. I am an alumni from HACC. I'm also an adjunct faculty member and I currently work in a, in higher education here in central Pennsylvania.

to request dollars to [Cut to photo of a student smiling at commencement]

ADAM VO

better our classroom, to innovate our classroom.

[Cut to shot of an instructor at the head of a full classroom]

ADAM VO

Can we purchase different furniture or different desks instead of just having rows of desks and individualized seats

[Cut to a wider shot of the same classroom]

ADAM VO

why not we have a collaborative table.

[Cut close up of ADAM speaking]

ADAM

And as much as it kind of is, kind of funny to go, hey we're having a group project, and you're like, no, no group projects.

[Cut to shot of four students sitting and working together in a classroom]

ADAM VO

but yet in the workforce

ADAM VO

So why not create that environment

[Cut to two shot of the same student and the person she is talking to]

within the classroom.

and bring them in and tell them, tell the students what they have experienced. That is innovation because now we're not just learning what's in the textbook. We are seeing the application of it. These funds will help enable with the college and thus, enable the students.

[Cut to photo of two students in cap and gown holding a handwritten sign that reads "The best is yet to come!"]

ADAM VO

Again, return it back. It's cyclical.
