

Cheryl F. Plawsky Photography Funds for Excellence

HACC, Central Pennsylvania's Community College, recognizes the importance of having a strong arts program. Access to courses that allow students to express their creativity has positive benefits on the student learning environment and strengthens the artistic culture in the community. That is why HACC is committed to having a photography program that allows students to hone their craft while learning from experts in the field.

HACC has two funds dedicated to assisting photography students: the Cheryl F. Plawsky Photography Program Activities Fund for Excellence and the Cheryl F. Plawsky Photography Program Equipment Fund for Excellence. These funds benefit students who study film in both the Associate in Fine Arts in photography and the certificate in photography program.

Cheryl F. Plawsky Photography Program Activities Fund for Excellence

These funds will support activities for photography students that will supplement their lectures. These activities include distinguished guest lectures and workshops, where students can learn from and network with experts in the field. These funds will also support exhibition series, where students can be exposed to photography created by renowned and innovative artists across the globe.

Cheryl F. Plawsky Photography Program Equipment Fund for Excellence

Photography students are exposed to a variety of different tools that are being used in their field, many of which are very expensive. These funds will assist with the development and maintenance of instructional resources, facilities and equipment for the photography programs.

HACC remains committed to providing an innovative photography program for our students and the community. YOU can help ensure that the photography program at HACC remains innovative by visiting hacc.edu/GiveNow to make a gift to one of the Cheryl F. Plawsky Photography funds for excellence.
