

Fund for Excellence for Workforce Development

At HACC, Central Pennsylvania's Community College, the Workforce Development and Continuing Education Division provides training for both individuals and corporations. Students who want to improve their skills and corporations interested in retraining their workforce thrive in these programs every year!

By providing innovative programs and technology, the Fund for Excellence for Workforce Development will enhance programs ranging from GED preparation and certificate training to manufacturing and healthcare professions. With YOUR support, HACC could provide students with equipment and opportunities to:

Update training simulators

Many workforce development programs use these simulators to provide students in Commercial Driver's License (CDL), healthcare programs and others with real-life experience in their field.

Expand apprenticeships and pre-apprenticeships offerings

Most workforce development programs and trainings use this model to attract high school students who need a path after graduation, including the training for volunteer firefighters!

Expand healthcare academies

This program provides training to high school seniors in healthcare professions in the community. Local organizations can find their employees through this program, and students receive a head start in their fields.

"At Eurofins Lancaster Laboratories Inc., we believe in developing our employees' talents, skills and abilities as we strive to continuously improve and exceed our clients' expectations for the services we provide. [At]HACC, we have found a training partner who understands our needs, shares our commitment to quality and superior service and supports our leadership and performance improvement goals and objectives. I highly recommend HACC to any organization who puts leadership, quality and service at the forefront of their organizational learning and development efforts!"

-Anthony B. Tooth, Ph.D., Technical Training Department Manager at Eurofins Lancaster Laboratories, Inc.

These programs allow high school seniors, HACC students and community partners to receive the training they need to enter or return to the workforce.
