Do I have to take the GED preparation classes or can I just take the GED tests?
Classes help prepare you to take the four official GED tests in Math, Science, Social Studies & Language Arts. Classes are recommended, but not required, so if you feel ready to take the exams, you can create a student account, pay for and schedule the exams at www.ged.com

How much do the GED preparation classes cost?
The classes are free.

When are the GED preparation classes offered?
Classes meet four days/week from Monday through Thursday. Morning classes start at 9am or 10:30am and finish by 11:45am. Evening classes begin at 5pm or 6:30pm and finish by 7:45pm.

Where are the GED Prep Classes offered?
On-campus classes are held at HACC's Midtown 1 Building in the city of Harrisburg at 1523 North 4th Street. HACC also holds GED classes at several off-site locations in Harrisburg.

How long do the GED Prep Classes last?
Most classes are offered in 8 week sessions with the early fall session beginning in August, the late fall in October, the early spring in January and the late spring in March.

What are the requirements for entering GED Prep Classes?
You must first complete an orientation registration form in order to join the program. Electronic registration forms are available at http://www.hacc.edu/ProgramsandCourses/AdultEducationGED/Adult-Basic-Education.cfm or can be filled out in person in the GED Office at the Midtown 1 Building, Second Floor, Room 224. You will then be required to attend two days of GED orientation and complete pre-testing before beginning classes.

Who do I contact about GED Prep Classes?
For more information or questions, contact the HACC GED Office at 717-780-2442 or email ged@hacc.edu