Introduction

Dear Human Services Student,

This Student Handbook has been prepared to acquaint you with information, procedures, and policies in the Human Services program at HACC. The HACC catalog, together with this handbook, will provide you with details about various aspects of the Human Services program. While this handbook is intended as a reference for you to use, we realize that it cannot answer every question, so we urge you to consult with your academic advisor and/or a Human Services faculty member for additional assistance.

HACC Human Services students are trained in a wide variety of helping interventions so that they may provide direct services to individuals or groups that have diverse needs. Graduates of the program are trained in basic skills that are essential to the helping relationship. In addition to skill training, the program provides knowledge, values and competencies as the foundation to the practice of helping skills. A major component of all human service education is experiential learning or “learning-by-doing.” Therefore, HACC’s Human Services program also provides a 255-hour Field Work Practicum (HUMS 215) that allows students to integrate knowledge and skills, thereby demonstrating competency, in a community agency.

Your professional education is the purpose for our existence and the Human Services program faculty is available to help make your educational experience a positive one. Welcome to the Human Services program and best wishes for your academic success!

The Human Services Faculty

Program Accreditation

What is Human Services?

According to the National Organization for Human Services, “the field of Human Services is broadly defined, uniquely approaching the objective of meeting human needs through an interdisciplinary knowledge base, focusing on prevention as well as remediation of problems, and maintaining a commitment to improving the overall quality of life of service populations. The Human Services profession is one which promotes improved service delivery systems by addressing not only the quality of direct services, but also by seeking to improve accessibility, accountability, and coordination among professionals and agencies in service delivery” (www.nationalhumanservices.org).

Dr. Harold McPheeters, believed by many to be the founder of the human services movement in the United States, defines Human Services as “the occupation/profession that uses a blend of primarily psychological and sociological theories and skills in preventing, detecting, and ameliorating psychosocially dysfunctioning people and in helping them attain the highest levels of psychosocial functioning of which they are capable” (Woodside & McClam, 2015, p.17).

Generic Human Services Professional Competencies

The following six statements describe the major generic knowledge, skills and attitudes that appear to be required in all human service work. The training and preparation of the individual worker within this framework will change as the function of the work setting, the specific client population served, and the level of organization work change.

1. Understanding the nature of human systems: individual, group, organization, community and society, and their major interactions. All workers will have preparation which helps them to understand human development, group dynamics, organizational structure, how communities are organized, how national policy is set, and how social systems interact in producing human problems.

2. Understanding the conditions which promote or limit optimal functioning and classes of deviations from desired functioning in the major human systems. Workers will have understanding of the major models of causation that are concerned with both the promotion of healthy functioning and with treatment-rehabilitation. This includes medically oriented, socially oriented, psychologically-behavioral oriented and educationally oriented models.

3. Skill in identifying and selecting interventions which promote growth and goal attainment. The worker will be able to conduct a competent problem analysis and to select those strategies, services or interventions that are appropriate to helping clients attain a desired outcome. Interventions may include assistance, referral, advocacy, or direct counseling.

4. Skill in planning, implementing and evaluating interventions. The worker will be able to design a plan of action for an identified problem and implement the plan in a systematic way. This requires an understanding of problems analysis, decision-analysis, and design of work plans. This generic skill can be used with all social systems and adapted for use with individual clients or organizations. Skill in evaluating the interventions is essential.

5. Consistent behavior in selecting interventions which are congruent with the values of one's self, clients, the employing organization and the Human Service profession. This cluster requires awareness of one's own value orientation, an understanding of organizational values as expressed in the mandate or goal statement of the organization, human service ethics and an appreciation of the client's values, life style and goals.
6. Process skills which are required to plan and implement services. This cluster is based on the assumption that the worker uses himself as the main tool for responding to service needs. The worker must be skillful in verbal and oral communication, interpersonal relationships and other related personal skills, such as self-discipline and time management. It requires that the worker be interested in and motivated to conduct the role that he has agreed to fulfill and to apply himself to all aspects of the work that the role requires.

Careers

There are a variety of careers related to the Human Services field. We encourage you to explore the different options, such as Counselors, Social and Human Service Assistants, Social Workers, Caseworkers, Rehabilitation Counselors, and many others. Some useful websites include:

Human Services Program General Information

Human Services is unique among majors in the Health and Public Service Department. It represents professional and personal preparation to work in a field that demonstrates a care and concern for others through practice based on knowledge, values, ethics, and skills that define human services. The Human Services faculty has an ethical and professional responsibility to prepare and motivate students to become competent entry-level Human Service workers, and/or to transfer to a four-year institution to complete a degree in a helping profession.

All students interested in the Human Services (career) or Social Services (transfer) major are required to complete the first course in the Human Services sequence of courses – HUMS 100-Introduction to Human Services. In this course students will begin the self-reflection, self-development process necessary to become competent Human Service workers. Throughout a student’s educational process students are expected to identify areas of growth necessary to successfully complete the Human Services or Social Services degree.

Human Services faculty members will monitor student’s motivation, commitment, capacity, and limitations for Human Services practice. The intent of the monitoring process is to assist students in the development of necessary knowledge, skills and attitudes for the Human Services profession. This process acknowledges the importance of producing graduates who are able to meet the challenges within the Human Services profession. In addition, this process supports the commitment of the student to ongoing self-reflection and professional development. The tools used to monitor student success are the National Organization for Human Services (NOHS) Ethical Standards (“Ethical Standards”) and the Essential Qualifications for Health Careers Programs: Human Services (“EQs”).
The Human Services faculty is committed to each student's academic success and are willing to assist students who are committed to his/her educational process. If at any time a student experiences challenges with academic assignments, he/she is strongly encouraged to meet with an academic advisor and/or any Human Services faculty member to devise a plan of action that will assist in the successful completion of academic course work. Furthermore, if a student is experiencing personal problems that may be impeding the ability to complete academic assignments, students are encouraged to meet with an academic advisor or current Human Services faculty member. Academic Advisors and Human Services faculty have knowledge of resources which can assist in sorting through personal problems. Again, the student is responsible for initiating these discussions.

Please note that although the Human Services faculty are trained in the helping profession, their role and function is to serve as an academic advisor and/or instructor and not as your personal helping professional. Therefore, we must insist on maintaining the role as your advisor and/or professor. This separation of roles will include maintaining boundaries between our role of faculty member and our role as helping professional. Moreover, we will NOT act as your counselor, case manager or therapist! Boundaries are a concept and skill we teach in Human Services courses; therefore, we will practice this skill! Counseling services are available at each of HACC's campuses.

HACC offers various academic support services and resources that promote educational, professional, and personal excellence to a diverse student body and the College community. These include tutoring services, online tutoring (SMARTTHINKING), and academic success workshops. Please approach a faculty member, advisor, or counselor at your campus to discuss concerns about your academic success at HACC.

Some general requirements of the program are as follows:

- Students are required to review and comply with the Ethical Standards for Human Services Professionals.
- Students shall review and sign a Student Acknowledgement form, provided by the Instructor in the HUMS 100 course and again in the HUMS 215 course, to indicate an understanding of the policies and procedures of the Human Services program.
- Students will meet with their HUMS 100 Introduction to Human Services instructor to discuss their goals, concerns, Human Services Clearance Procedure (if applicable), the self-awareness essay, and the Ethical Standards.

Human Services Program Course Attendance Policy

For the Human Services courses, instructors will determine what counts as an excused vs. unexcused absence, which will align with College procedures. Please see the syllabus to familiarize yourself with the instructor’s specific policy.

When a student has excessive unexcused absences (defined as missing 15% of any course which is 6 hours of a 3-credit course or 8 hours of a 4-credit course) the student will be withdrawn from the course by the instructor. In addition, when excessive absences (excused and unexcused) preclude the possibility of a student attaining the stated learning outcomes of the course, the student will be withdrawn from the course. This policy applies to day, evening, full-term, late-start, and part-of-term courses.

Situations and emergencies do and will happen; therefore, students are expected to use professional judgments when the need arises to be absent from class. When the student is dropped from the course for excessive unexcused absences, the student will NOT be permitted to continue in the course and will need to retake the course in the future. A withdrawal from the course is simply a reflection of the need to take the course when the student is in a better “life space.” This is to ensure your successful completion of the required course material and preparedness for the subsequent courses. This policy is to assist you with your success in the Human Services program (See SGP Credit Enrollment, Withdrawal, Attendance, and Refunds).

Human Services and Social Services Degree Requirements

Students may choose to major in the Human Services AAS (Career) or Social Services AA (Transfer). The Human Services AAS is designed for the student who wants to earn a degree and immediately begin a career in an entry level position in Human Services. The Social Services AA is designed for the student who desires to earn an Associate’s degree and then transfer to a four-year school and earn a Bachelor’s degree in Social Work, Psychology, or a related major. Students should consult with their academic advisor and/or Human Services faculty member to discuss degree requirements and major. The degree requirements may be found here: http://www.hacc.edu/ProgramsandCourses/Programs/HealthCareers/Human-Service-Social-Services.cfm

Students are strongly encouraged to contact the transfer school of his/her choice to confirm their course requirements. It is imperative that students also take the time to meet with a faculty or academic advisor regularly to be best advised on how to complete degree requirements in the expected time frame.

Degree Completion and Course Sequencing

Ideally a student will complete the requirements for an associate’s degree in approximately two years. However, the student should note that he/she will need to complete at least 12 to 15+ credits each semester and 2 or 3+ summer courses to accomplish the task of an associate’s degree in two years. Students should also note course sequencing requirements when planning degree completion time line.
The advising check sheets may be found here:

Human Services Course Descriptions

The most up-to-date course descriptions may be found in the Course Catalog at http://www.hacc.edu/ProgramsandCourses/CourseCatalog/index.cfm. Additional information is noted below.

HUMS 215 - Field Work Practicum

This is the last course in the Human Services program sequence where students will have the opportunity to integrate and apply learning from previous Human Services Courses. More specifically, the Council for Standards in Human Services Education states that “Field experience such as a practicum or internship occurs in a human services setting. Fieldwork provides an environment and context to integrate the knowledge, theory, skills, and professional behaviors that are concurrently being taught in the classroom. It must be an integral part of the educational process” (CSHSE, 2013).

Students are to begin the practicum selection process (including obtaining clearances) at least one semester BEFORE the practicum start date. Practicum students work closely with the practicum coordinator to facilitate the practicum process.

Students will complete 255 hours minimum of field work in a human services agency. In addition, practicum students will participate in a classroom/seminar component which provides an opportunity to meet on campus weekly to integrate classroom learning with practicum experience. The emphasis is on students assuming the human service worker role through working directly with clients. There is also a particular focus on the human services agency as an organization, working with agency staff, and completing goal planning with clients. Students will be required to obtain and submit current copies of any clearances required by the Practicum Site, such as the Child Abuse Clearance, State Police Criminal Background check, and FBI Fingerprinting, PRIOR to beginning the field work practicum. Any costs will be absorbed by the student.

IMPORTANT NOTICE: It is becoming standard that Human Services employers and field practicum sites require that students complete criminal background checks as a condition of employment and/or field placement. Moreover, public Human Service agencies may deny employment and field practicum to any student who has been convicted of a felony and/or combination of misdemeanor offenses. The Human Services program at HACC provides students with information about this issue as an ethical obligation, so that students can make an informed choice about their career pursuit. Failure to notify the Human Services Program Director of changes in criminal background may result in an automatic dismissal from the Human Services program. Refer to the Human Services Clearance Procedure in the Appendix for further information.
GPA Requirements

Students should refer to Administrative Procedure 638 regarding the College’s procedures for academic probation, suspension, and reinstatement of suspended students.

Timeline to complete a Degree in Human Services

Due to changes in practice procedures, state laws, etc., students are strongly encouraged to complete the Human Services Degree within five years from date of admission. If the student leaves the college and returns within five (5) years, the student will still follow the “five-year rule.” If a student returns to the Human Services program after five years the student may be required to meet with the Human Services Program Director, or a Human Services Faculty member to discuss the need to retake core courses. If the student does not complete the Human Services Degree within five years the student may be asked to meet with the Human Services Program Director to discuss a plan or options to complete the Human Services Degree or change of major to a degree that better suits the student’s learning needs and career goals.

Graduation Application

To facilitate the degree completion process, each student will be required to submit an online graduation application early in the semester. It is best to meet with an academic advisor prior to applying for graduation to be sure course curriculum is complete. Students can apply to graduate through the myHACC portal. Additional information may be found at this link: https://www.hacc.edu/Students/Commencement/index.cfm

Eligibility for Credentials

Upon successful completion of the program you will:

- Earn a Human Services Associate in Applied Science degree or a Social Services Associate in Arts degree
- Be eligible to sit for the Human Services-Board Certified Practitioner (HS-BCP) exam

Repeating Human Services Courses

A student who maintains a GPA of 2.0 but receives a D or F in any core Human Services required course will be allowed to repeat the course according to SGP 668. If a student repeats the core human services course and again earns a grade of D or F the student may be dismissed from the Human Services program. The rationale is that if a student cannot complete a core Human Services course after a second attempt the student may not be able, willing and/ or prepared to move forward as a Human Services Professional. This student will be encouraged to seek an alternative major that may better suit his/her learning needs and career goals.

Repeating HUMS 215 Field Work Practicum Course

If a student receives an F grade in HUMS 215 due to behavioral misconduct, unethical actions, failure to communicate absences from the practicum site, or other egregious acts or circumstances, the student will be dismissed from the Human Services program. If a student receives a grade of W or F for other reasons (e.g., inability to complete assignments on time, death/medical event in the family, life circumstances that posed a barrier to the student’s success, etc.), the student will be required to meet with the Program Director and/or Director of Field Placement prior to repeating the course for a second time.

Inappropriate Behavior, Violence, and Harassment

The Human Services program is committed to the education of Human Services students in a safe and conscientious environment consistent with the standards set by the Ethical Standards. In order to provide an environment which is conducive to learning, any form of aggressive and/or violent behavior will NOT be tolerated at any time and will be grounds for disciplinary action up to and including immediate dismissal from the HUMS program. This behavior includes but is not limited to practicum, classroom, outside activities where the student is representing the profession. Moreover, these behaviors will not be tolerated when said conduct reflects upon the college, any dealings with faculty or other students in the program, or any other venue that may be determined by the faculty and/or Program Director.

This policy denotes zero tolerance for aggressive and/or violent behavior. The aggressive and/or violent behaviors which will not be tolerated include, but are not limited to:

- Unacceptable verbal conduct, such as screaming, name-calling, or use of profanity
- Physical conduct, such as invading physical space, touching, pushing, hitting, grabbing or throwing items
- Engaging in or threatening to engage in behavior which presents the potential for causing physical harm to self or others
- Harassment (verbal, physical, visual, sexual, or any other legally protected characteristic)
- Inappropriate behavior which interferes with others’ opportunity to participate in the class or the Human Services program

Violation of this policy will also be subject to action by the College in accordance with SGP 592 Student Disciplinary Action, SGP 875 Harassment, and any other relevant policy.

Procedure for Dismissal from the Human Services Program

When admitted into the Human Services program, students are expected to develop and to demonstrate consistent professional commitment to his/her work and to demonstrate behavior that is appropriate for a developing Human Services Professional. Guidelines for professional behavior can be found in the Ethical Standards. Students are expected to have clear knowledge of these guidelines and their applications. Each of these documents will be introduced in the course, HUMS 100 Introduction to Human Services, and reinforced in all subsequent Human Services courses.

The following list is a partial list of serious circumstances that justify immediate dismissal from the program:

- Theft or attempted theft
- Violation of the college drug and alcohol statement which includes being under the influence of drugs or alcohol while attending class or while at the practicum site. If a student is suspected of being under the influence while at the practicum site, the student will immediately be dismissed from the practicum site.
- Alcohol or drug detection or use upon reporting to class, during community assessments, or agency visits
- Falsification of college, healthcare provider or agency records
• Unauthorized possession, copying and or/disclosure of information contained in a client’s chart/file
• Breach of confidentially of client information in accordance with HIPAA standards.
• Any willful act or conduct detrimental to client care, agency operations, fellow students or faculty
• Violation of HACC’s college policy on violence
• Violation of any college or agency policy
• Abuse, mistreatment or neglect of clients

A student with any legal charges incurred while in the Human Services program must immediately disclose such charges to the Program Director. Charges will be considered on an individual basis and may result in the student’s dismissal from the Human Services program. Students who are dismissed for these and/or other reasons relating to serious misconduct will be immediately removed from all Human Services courses and dismissed from the program.

Violations of the Ethical Standards or EQs

1. The Human Services faculty member will notify the student about violation(s) providing a verbal warning about the specific violation and document the notification. This notification becomes a permanent part of the student’s Human Services student file.

2. If the student continues to violate the same or other Ethical Standards (accrues an additional violation) the faculty member and the Program Director will meet with the student to discuss violation(s). The student may be dismissed from the program, withdrawn from other Human Services courses, and/or another plan may be offered depending on the infraction and severity of the violation of standards. This action will be documented and placed in the student’s file and may also be reported to the Behavioral Intervention Team at HACC for further action.

3. If after the student has completed the above outlined process and the student disagrees with the outcome of the dismissal from the program (and consequential withdrawal from any Human Services courses) the student has the right to follow the appeal of academic decision procedure outlined in the Student Handbook.

Note: If the violation is determined to be egregious, or in the case where time does not permit adherence to the steps delineated above, immediate dismissal from the program may take place. This determination will be made upon consultation between the faculty member, Program Director, and dean. The student still maintains the right to file an appeal.

Social Media

The term “Social Media” refers to blogs, social networks such as MySpace, Facebook, LinkedIn, and Twitter, podcasts, video sharing, Really Simple Syndication (RSS) feeds, and on-line collaborative information and publishing systems. Information displayed on these formats is considered public and could be identified as a HIPAA violation.

The student must not disclose or post ANY confidential or proprietary information regarding the Human Services program including, but not limited to instructors, staff, other students, clients, visitors, vendors or practicum sites. The student must, at all times, remain mindful, respectful and professional in refraining from creating a false impression, or posting discriminatory, harassing, abusive, obscene, vulgar, hateful or embarrassing information about the Human Services program or another person or entity.

Good Standing Procedure

In order to protect the safety of the client and the ethics of its health career programs it is HACC's position that students who have previously withdrawn or have been dismissed from a clinical program be evaluated for violation of the code of ethics. The Good Standing Form is required for a student who was previously admitted to a health career program at HACC from which he/she did not graduate. The form should be given to the student during his/her first health career advising session. Please use the link below to locate the most current form and procedure:

http://www.hacc.edu/ProgramsandCourses/Programs/HealthCareers/upload/Good-Standing-Form-and-Procedure.pdf

APA Requirement

The Human Services program requires the use of APA writing style according to the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (7th edition). It is strongly recommended that students become familiar with this writing style. Information can be found at the following links:

http://www.apastyle.org/
https://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/01/
https://libguides.hacc.edu/citingsources/apa7

Desire to Learn/Brightspace

Brightspace (formerly known as Desire to Learn or “D2L”) is a Learning Management System (LMS) that allows students to access course materials. Many of the Human Services faculty use this as a resource for students to view grades, access rubrics, participate in discussions, take exams, and submit assignments, among other features.

The Human Services Student Club

Historically the Human Services program has strived to coordinate with students to maintain an active Human Services Student Club. The Human Services Club is an opportunity for students to participate in service above and beyond volunteer experience or internship/practicum. The Human Services Club also provides an opportunity for students to interact with peers beyond the class room. Furthermore, the Human Services Club provides an opportunity to participate in activities that a student may value as a Human Services major. Some past activities included attending the MACHS (Mid-Atlantic Consortium of Human Service) conference. The MACHS conference is an annual conference hosted by the National Organization for Human Services. There students and faculty have the opportunity to meet, socialize and work with other students and faculty members who are majoring in or teaching Human Services. The students and faculty members who attend the MACHS conference reside in and/or attend a community college in Delaware, New Jersey, Maryland, New York, Pennsylvania and Washington D.C. Each year a different school hosts the conference at their respective school.
If you are interested in starting a Human Services Student club or participating in a Human Services Student Club at your campus you are encouraged to speak to your peers or any Human Services faculty member. You should also speak to representatives from the Student Activities Office (SAC) at your campus to find out about the specific process for beginning a Human Services Club.

Scholarships

The Outstanding Human Service Student Award

This award was established in 1982 by the Human Service Advisory Committee, with the first student awarded in 1983. The award is presented to a student who displays exceptional dedication and leadership in the field of Human Services. A student must have successfully completed at least 30 credit hours (15 credits of which are human services courses), have a 3.5 GPA in Human Service Courses, and an overall GPA of 3.0. In addition, eligible students must have successfully completed or be enrolled in HUMS 215 (Field Practicum). Finally, students must demonstrate a commitment to the field of Human Services through one or more of the following: personal growth, family life, or paid/volunteer community work.

The Human Service Advisory Committee

The Human Service Advisory Committee is an organization comprised of Human Service Professionals who volunteer time to assist the Human Services program at HACC in maintaining program standards of excellence. This is accomplished by providing feedback regarding local, state, and national trends as well as current needs and policy changes. Moreover, the Advisory Committee acts as an advocate for the Human Services program at HACC. If you or anyone who fits the above outlined description is interested in serving on the Human Service Advisory Committee please contact the Human Services Program Director for more details.
HUMS 215- Field Work Practicum

This section is designed to provide information about the Field Work Practicum requirements for the Human Services Program. Included are:

- Course objectives and requirements
- Responsibilities of the Field Work agency, Practicum instructor, Student, and HACC
- Procedures for enrolling in the Field Work Practicum course and securing a Field Work placement

This handbook seeks to provide students and field work supervisors a clear idea of what is expected in each person’s respective roles. The essential goal is for the student to have a professionally and personally rewarding learning experience. The goal is also for the agency, staff, and clients to benefit from having a HACC Human Services student at the agency.

What is the Practicum?
The Catalog Description for HUMS 215 states:

Provides students with a cumulative learning experience. This course allows students to work in a human services agency for a total of 255 hours. All students are under the direct supervision of a Bachelor’s or Higher Level Human Service Professional. In this environment, students learn to apply knowledge, skills, and attitudes acquired in core Human Service courses – to work with clients within a human services agency. Students also meet with the instructor to integrate classroom learning with job performance. Emphasis is placed on students assuming the Human Service Worker role in working directly with clients. Students complete assignments that focus on the human services agency of where they are completing their 255 hours, as an organization, emphasizing their work with agency staff, and goal planning. All students accepted into this component of the program must submit to a Pennsylvania Child Abuse History Clearance, FBI Check, and a PA State Police Criminal Record Check. Enrollment is restricted to students in the Human Services AA and the Social Services AA degree. A course fee is required.

Why is the Practicum Important?

It is wise to think of the fieldwork experience, or practicum, as the culmination of the Human Service curriculum. It is the place where theory and practice are tested and integrated. All the literature in the human service field the student has read, all the papers prepared on topics related to the human service field, all the lectures and skill training come together in the practice experience.

As Professor Emeritus Ann Lyon wrote:

The fieldwork Practica ... provides the student the opportunity to translate academic learning into the practice of working to help empower people to live more productive and satisfying lives. This process must be guided by ethical principles and in concert with the personal growth of each student. (1933)

This opportunity taken early in the student’s academic career can answer a host of questions for the student. Students learn about their interest in the field, their strengths and abilities as useful in practice. Students also become more aware of any limitations. This valuable information allows students to better plan and organize their future career or academic track.

Steps to Obtaining a Practicum

Students are placed in an agency through the cooperative efforts of the Practicum Coordinator, the student, the agency, and other faculty who may be able to help with specific agency placements. The Practicum Coordinator has final authority for all agency placements. Steps to obtaining a practicum placement are:

1. Read the information in this section of the Student Handbook about the Practicum Field Work course.
2. Students’ must submit an application for Field Work Practicum to the HUMS 215 Instructor by the midterm in the semester prior to enrollment in the course (note that this would be spring for the fall semester).
3. The student prepares a resume. These resumes are for the student to present to potential agency supervisors. Help with resumes is available in the Career and Transfer Center at each regional campus. Visit this link: http://www.hacc.edu/Students/CareerServices/index.cfm
4. The student needs to obtain and submit current copies (within one year of the start of the practicum) of clearances required by the practicum site, such as the Child Abuse Clearance, State Police Criminal Background Check, and FBI Fingerprinting. You will need to check with the practicum site for their specific requirements. Go to keepkidssafe.pa.gov and click the clearance tab for information on how to obtain the clearances.
5. Students contact and visit potential agencies discussing the possible placement opportunities and the requirements for completion of the practicum. At this time, the student submits a resume to the agency. Students are strongly encouraged to visit several agencies before selecting a placement. The practicum coordinator will supply the student with a list of potential sites.
6. Students are responsible for following up on these contacts. If a placement is offered by an agency and the student accepts, the agency supervisor and the student must contact the Practicum Instructor and submit the Learning Contract and Educational Plan with written goals and objectives for approval. Once the practicum instructor receives these documents and approves the placement the student will be allowed to register for the practicum course.
7. HACC requires that there be a signed legal agreement between the practicum agency and the college. The practicum coordinator has a list of agencies that have already signed an agreement with HACC. If the student wishes to do their practicum at an agency that does not have an agreement with HACC the Practicum Coordinator will initiate the contract process with the agency. Students should be aware that this process takes time and there are no guarantees that the agency will agree to contract with HACC. As a result, it is critical that the student contact the practicum coordinator early to allow time for all requirements to be in place before the semester they wish to do their practicum in starts.
8. Once the practicum placement is approved by the practicum coordinator the student and the agency supervisor then agree upon scheduling details at the agency. The practicum coordinator will do an override so the student can register for the course. Students will not be permitted to register for the practicum without an approved placement. No student will be permitted to begin practicum hours until all steps for obtaining a practicum as outlined above have been completed and the semester they are registered for has begun.
Importance of the Learning Contract and Educational Plan

The Learning Contract, which includes the educational plan specific to the student’s practicum, will be the basis for the following decisions:

- Serves as a guide for the student’s learning experience
- Serves as a document for review of the student’s progress when the Practicum Instructor visits the field practicum site
- Provides guidance in the final grading process for the course
- Provides direction for the student’s future plans with regard to professional and personal development

Altering the Educational Plan/Goals and Objectives

During the semester the student and the student's Site Supervisor may decide to alter the educational plan. This may be done for several reasons:

- Sometimes the supervisor finds the student better prepared than originally thought and the student and the field work supervisor agree to add additional responsibilities
- A supervisor may want to make alterations to better accommodate the student's interests
- At other times the agency may need the student in a particular area and want to change the job description to permit the student to take on those responsibilities
- Sometimes it may be that the student is lacking in skills or the agency is requiring the student to perform tasks which are too sophisticated

Therefore, the goals and objectives can be altered to better reflect the student's actual abilities. All changes in the original educational plan must be approved by the Practicum Instructor before going into effect. This can be done by a phone call or email between the supervisor and the Practicum Instructor, but must be followed by a revised educational plan submitted to the practicum instructor within 7-10 college business days.

Using Your Job as a Practicum

If a student desires to use his/her job within a human service agency as a practicum placement, the student presents this option to the Practicum Instructor and the agency supervisor for approval. For this option to be approved, students must document that current job duties are Human Service related. In addition, 25% of the practicum hours must be made up of new tasks, perhaps in another service or at a higher job level. This will ensure that the practicum assignment constitutes a new learning experience and meets a student's career goals.

Conflicts During the Practicum

If a student encounters a problem at their placement (e.g. with a client), the student will immediately contact their agency supervisor. On rare occasions students may encounter problems in completing the practicum assignment. If any problems or concerns occur at the agency between the student and the supervisor, the Practicum Instructor should be notified as soon as the problem is encountered. Often the Practicum Instructor can assist in resolving the problems. If the student waits too long, credit for the Practicum may be lost because the student is not able to complete the Practicum and/or the student is forced to choose a new placement too close to the end of the semester.
If the student and the Practicum Instructor experience a conflict, the student must first discuss the conflict with the instructor. If after discussion, the conflict remains irresolvable, the student has the option to begin the grievance process and the grievance procedure is as follows:

1. The student shall notify the Program Director about the irresolvable conflict(s) in writing.
2. The student shall then schedule a meeting to discuss irresolvable conflict/concern with the Program Director.
3. The Program Director will make a decision, based on the student’s description of events, the meeting with the student, and contact with those who made the decision concerning the student.
4. If the student disagrees with the Program Director’s decision, the student has the right to pursue his/her grievance using HACC’s grievance procedure.

Site Requirements

When seeking a field placement, students should be aware of other requirements for the Field Work site:

- All students need to be under the direct supervision of a Bachelor's or higher-level Human Service Professional.
- Students cannot be asked to work alone. This means students are not permitted to attend events or cover a shift in an agency by themselves, unless they are an employee of the agency.
- Students are not permitted to work third shift. There are agencies that are open 24 hours and operate on all three shifts. Some of these agencies require students to rotate shifts on occasion to learn the full operation of the agency. Students should ask before accepting a Practicum if the placement will involve third shift work and how much. A practicum site that primarily involves working a third shift will not be approved.
- Students must not drive clients in their own cars unless the student is a paid employee of the agency. Students may drive clients in an agency vehicle if the agency insurance covers the student driving that vehicle.
- Students may be required to participate in an agency orientation or other training as part of their practicum. The practicum instructor may approve up to 26 hours of training to be counted towards the hours needed to complete the practicum. The instructor must approve the content of the training.
- Students should not possess any material, verbal or written from an agency which identifies clients using the services of that agency. This includes flash drives and other electronic material. All class assignments should have ALL identifying information deleted or fictionalized.
- Students are covered under HACC’s liability insurance while on the Practicum site. This coverage does not start until the first day of the semester. This liability insurance does not cover medical expenses if the student is injured on the practicum site. If the agency requires proof of professional liability insurance the student should contact the practicum coordinator who can secure this information for the agency representative.

Evaluations

Students are evaluated by their Site Work Supervisor, Practicum Instructor, and through self-evaluations. A Site supervisor appraises the student’s field work while the Practicum Instructor evaluates the student’s classroom work. Throughout the semester students assess their accomplishments and need for skill development via the Educational Plan and Weekly Report. The Practicum Instructor is responsible for the final grade in the practicum.

The Site Supervisor evaluates what the student has achieved at the practicum site, noting the objectives as stated in the Educational Plan. The Practicum Instructor evaluates written assignments submitted by a student in the classroom seminar and the degree of integration and understanding between classroom learning and direct practice.

The Evaluation of the student must be shared with the student and the student must have an opportunity to provide feedback and sign the final evaluation. A confirmation of hours the student has worked is requested in the supervisor's evaluation. A time log will be provided for students to track hours.

The purpose of supervision is to help the student not only learn to perform the tasks in an agency, but to become a competent Human Services Professional. This means a relationship should develop between the Site Supervisor and the student where the student can be open and share concerns about becoming an effective helper. The student must be able to accept constructive criticism and grow.

The Practicum Instructor considers the Site Supervisor's evaluation of a student and the student's self-assessment before arriving at a final grade for the student. If discrepancies exist about the student's evaluation between the Practicum Instructor and the Site Supervisor, the Practicum Instructor discusses the issues with the Field Work Supervisor before submitting a final grade for the student.

Questions and Answers for HUMS 215 Field Work Practicum Site Supervisors

1. Q: How much time will the student spend at my agency?
   A: The student is required to spend a minimum of 255 hours per semester at your agency. In the fall (August-December) and spring (January-May) semesters, which are 14 weeks in length, this equates to approximately 18-19 hours/week. In the 12-week summer semester, this equates to 21-22 hours/week.

2. Q: What will the student do while she/he is here?
   A: You will work with the student to develop an Educational Plan which will outline what the student will be doing during the experience. The goals and objectives written will focus on the agency’s needs and the student’s identified areas for growth. Please see the sample Educational Plan located in this handbook.

3. Q: What should I expect a student to know?
   A: Students will have taken courses addressing content areas such as: self-awareness, values, biases, ethics, relevant laws, policies, interviewing skills, case management functions, documentation, group work, basic counseling skills, principles of psychology and sociology, use and abuse of drugs and alcohol, and other courses depending upon their program.

4. Q: Do students get paid? Does my agency incur any expenses?
   A: Students often are not paid for their time at their practicum site. However, some students may be paid if they are employed by the site, or if they are eligible for work/study funds and the site is eligible to participate in the federal work study program. The only expenses would be the cost of your staff to provide supervision of the student.

5. Q: What are the requirements to supervise the student?
   A: The site supervisor must hold at least a Bachelor’s degree in a human service-related field. This person will be expected to provide regular supervision and support for the student, and specific responsibilities of the student, site supervisor, and HACC faculty are outlined in the Learning Contract.

6. Q: Will there be a site visit?
   A: Yes, there will be at least one site visit by the faculty member at the midpoint of the semester. This visit may be done at the agency site or through the use of video-conferencing technology. This is to ensure that the placement is running smoothly and offers an opportunity to discuss any concerns or successes. Of course, there is no need to wait if you have a concern. The faculty member is available to provide support at any time.

7. Q: How is the student to be graded?
   A: There will be various assignments throughout the semester that are graded. In addition, the site supervisor will provide a formal written evaluation at the conclusion of the practicum. The site supervisor will review this feedback with the student prior to sending it to the faculty member. This evaluation is approximately 1/3 of the overall course grade and is combined with the grades from the course assignments.

8. Q: What if problems arise during the semester?
   A: First, discuss your concern with the student. If the issue is not resolved, or is something serious, you would notify the practicum faculty. The practicum faculty will work with you to resolve the issue. If the problem cannot be resolved, the agency has the right to terminate the student.

9. Q: What about confidentiality?
   A: Students do discuss their experiences with other students and the faculty in the seminar class, but all identifying data is changed. Please discuss confidentiality policies of the agency with your student early in the practicum experience.
10. Q: What about liability?
A: Each student is covered by professional liability insurance policy purchased through HACC which begins on the first day of the semester. The certificate of liability will be provided upon request.
Appendix
The History of Human Services at HACC

The original Human Services program began in 1970 with Professor Emeritus Robert Haskell serving as the first Program Director. At that time the Human Services program was referred to as the Mental Health Technology program. Between 1971-1979, under the leadership of Professor Emeritus Ann Lyon (deceased), the Human Services program continued to grow and evolve from the Mental Health and Public Service program into the current Human Services program. These programs were designed for two kinds of students: those who wanted to be workers in Human Service agencies upon graduation and those who wanted to transfer to four-year colleges and universities into fields like social work, sociology, psychology, child development, special education or counseling.

In the fall of 1987, under the leadership of Professor John Heapes, the career and transfer components of the original program split into two separate programs (Human Services Career program and the Social Services Transfer program). Also, in 1987-1988, the Human Services faculty and the Human Service Advisory Committee decided that the career component of the Human Services program should form its own program and seek national approval from the Council for Standards in Human Service Education (CSHSE). Under the continued leadership of Professor John Heapes, the Human Services Career program received accreditation from CSHSE in the spring of 1989.

The Social Services Transfer program was officially recognized by the College in December 1987, during which time John Heapes was the Program Director. In addition to the Human Services Career and the Social Services Transfer program, the Human Services Discipline also offered a 31-credit certificate program designed for individuals not interested in obtaining an Associate’s degree.

Professor Nancy Summers revised the Human Services curriculum in 1987 and again in 1997 to reflect the professional skills and information required by local Human Service employers. This curriculum created increased academic rigor in the Human Services program, and better prepared students to work as Human Services Professionals. From 1995-2008 Professor Summers was the Human Services Program Director and during this time the Human Service program received reaccreditation from CSHSE (2007). In addition, the discipline was moved under the Health Careers division. Professor Ruby Porr was the Program Director from 2008-2011 and was instrumental in the 2007 reaccreditation process. She was also instrumental in moving the Human Services department to the Health Careers Division in 2010, bringing the program into compliance under this Division. This change strengthened the Human Services program as a discipline within the college, as well as provided strength in recognition within the Human Services profession. The Human Services program at HACC was awarded a renewal of accreditation in the spring of 2013 under the leadership of Professor Karen Polite. The Human Services program welcomed a new Program Director, Sherrill Goodlive, in March 2020.

The Human Services program continues to grow and evolve. In the fall of 2015, the program began to offer a Drug and Alcohol track for students who would like to focus in this area. Additionally, the Social Services AA degree and the General Human Services track of the Human Services AA degree was reaccredited for the period February 2017 – February 2022.

At the current time, curriculum work is in process in order to convert the Drug and Alcohol track into its own degree program. This is an exciting time for our faculty and program as we continue to respond to the needs of our community and prepare students to positively impact our society.
Human Services/Social Services Clearance Procedure

I. Purpose
Outline the steps to be taken for all Human Services/Social Services students regarding background checks for Field Work Practicum (practicum). It is HACC’s duty to protect the safety of the client and to uphold the ethics of the HACC programs. Individuals who have committed certain crimes may require special permission from a practicum site for placement. HACC will make every effort to allow students to complete their program of study in the Human Services/Social Services fields but cannot require facilities to accept students for practicum.

II. Definitions
A. Criminal record: Any history of conviction of a misdemeanor or felony crime.
B. Pending charges: Any criminal charges as yet unresolved by the courts.
C. Background check: The process required by HACC for admission into the practicum portion of the Human Services/Social Services programs which include PA State Police Criminal Record Check, PA Child Abuse History Clearance and FBI Background check or other checks required by the practicum agency.
D. Conviction: Being convicted, pleading guilty or entering a plea of nolo contendere, or receiving probation without verdict, accelerated rehabilitative disposition (ARD) or receiving any other disposition (excluding acquittal or dismissal) for any criminal offense.

III. Procedure
A. Students must submit background checks to the Practicum Coordinator, at the student’s expense, the semester prior to starting the practicum class. The Practicum Coordinator will work with the student and agency to reach a decision on the specific background checks required.
B. A student with any conviction or pending charge cannot be guaranteed that they will be able to complete a practicum in the HACC Human Services/Social Services programs.
C. Falsification of an application or any information related to a conviction will disqualify a student from admission and/or continuation in the Human Services/Social Services programs at HACC.
D. A student who completes the Human Services/Social Services program at HACC, despite criminal convictions, is not guaranteed to be eligible for licensure or credentialing by a governmental body, or will be eligible to work for a particular employer. Licensure and credentialing authorities and employers apply their own standards for evaluating whether criminal convictions are disqualifying. HACC accepts no liability in cases where a third party deems criminal convictions sufficiently serious to cause denial of the applicable license or credential, or to refuse employment opportunities. A student with a conviction or convictions is responsible for contacting the appropriate licensure or credentialing board to investigate eligibility and employability.

CSHSE is a national organization which assures that the program and courses at HACC meet national standards for Human Services Education. The program and each course are specifically designed to meet the Human Service fields’ standards. What this means to you as a student is that the Human Service program and its courses adequately prepare you for an entry level position in Human Services. The Council for Standards in Human Services Education has set forth 20 standards by which HACC’s Human Services program is evaluated. Human Services Faculty members continuously assess, review and modify the Human Services Program and course content to remain current with CSHSE and the human services fields’ standards. You will find key components of each of the 20 standards integrated to different degrees into the Human Services program and courses.

The Standards are organized in two sections, Part I: General Program Characteristics (Standards 1 -10) and Part II: Curriculum. Each standard is organized as follows:

- A general statement developing the context and rationale for the standard
- The standard
- The specifications stating criteria used for evaluating program compliance to the standards. They reflect the minimum acceptable level of compliance.

National Organization for Human Services (NOHS)

Ethical Standards for Human Services Professionals

Most professions have an organization in which members join and unite to provide a sense of professional identity. The National Organization for Human Services (NOHS) is the professional organization in which HACC’s Human Services Programs identifies as the source for current information about Human Services in society. NOHS publishes The Journal of Human Services and advocates for various social welfare policies. NOHS sponsors annual conferences where members of the profession gather and discuss, plan and learn information to set the Human Services agenda in the larger society. Membership is open to students, practicing Human Services professionals and Faculty. Lastly, NOHS created Ethical Standards for Human Services Professionals (“Ethical Standards”) which are guidelines that have been set to guide our behavior, values, and attitudes as a profession.

As a student you are bound by these Ethical Standards as you develop your professional self here at HACC. It is expected that each student be knowledgeable about the contents of these Ethical Standards and practice them in relationship to your peers, clients, and faculty. Each student shall be introduced to the Ethical Standards in the HUMS 100 course. As you continue your tenure at HACC, you will encounter these Ethical Standards in other Human Services courses. When you graduate with your Associates Degree and begin to work as a Human Services professional you will be expected to continue to practice within the guidelines of the Ethical Standards.

National Organization for Human Services Adopted 2015

Preamble

Human services is a profession developed in response to the direction of human needs and human problems in the 1960’s. Characterized by an appreciation of human beings in all of their diversity, human services offers assistance to its clients within the context of their communities and environments. Human service professionals and those who educate them promote and encourage the unique values and characteristics of human services. In so doing, human service professionals uphold the integrity and ethics of the profession, promote client and community well-being, and enhance their own professional growth.

The fundamental values of the human services profession include respecting the dignity and welfare of all people; promoting self-determination; honoring cultural diversity; advocating for social justice; and acting with integrity, honesty, genuineness and objectivity.

Human service professionals consider these standards in ethical and professional decision making. Conflicts may exist between this code and laws, workplace policies, cultural practices, credentialing boards, and personal beliefs. Ethical-decision making processes should be employed to assure careful choices. Although ethical codes are not legal documents, they may be used to address issues related to the behavior of human service professionals.

Persons who use this code include members of the National Organization for Human Services, students in relevant academic degree programs, faculty in those same programs, researchers, administrators, and professionals in community agencies who identify with the profession of human services. The ethical standards are organized in sections around those persons to whom ethical practice should be applied.

Responsibility to Clients

STANDARD 1 Human service professionals recognize and build on client and community strengths.

STANDARD 2 Human service professionals obtain informed consent to provide services to clients at the beginning of the helping relationship. Clients should be informed that they may withdraw consent at any time except where denied by court order and should be able to ask questions before agreeing to the services. Clients who are unable to give consent should have those who are legally able to give consent for them review an informed consent statement and provide appropriate consent.
STANDARD 3 Human service professionals protect the client’s right to privacy and confidentiality except when such confidentiality would cause serious harm to the client or others, when agency guidelines state otherwise, or under other stated conditions (e.g., local, state, or federal laws). Human service professionals inform clients of the limits of confidentiality prior to the onset of the helping relationship.

STANDARD 4 If it is suspected that danger or harm may occur to the client or to others as a result of a client’s behavior, the human service professional acts in an appropriate and professional manner to protect the safety of those individuals. This may involve, but is not limited to, seeking consultation, supervision, and/or breaking the confidentiality of the relationship.

STANDARD 5 Human service professionals recognize that multiple relationships may increase the risk of harm to or exploitation of clients and may impair their professional judgment. When it is not feasible to avoid dual or multiple relationships, human service professionals should consider whether the professional relationship should avoided or curtailed.

STANDARD 6 Sexual or romantic relationships with current clients are prohibited. Before engaging in sexual or romantic relationships with former clients, friends, or family members of former clients, human service professionals carefully evaluate potential exploitation or harm and refrain from entering into such a relationship.

STANDARD 7 Human service professionals ensure that their values or biases are not imposed upon their clients.

STANDARD 8 Human service professionals protect the integrity, safety, and security of client records. Client information in written or electronic form that is shared with other professionals must have the client’s prior written consent except in the course of professional supervision or when legally obliged or permitted to share such information.

STANDARD 9 When providing services through the use of technology, human service professionals take precautions to ensure and maintain confidentiality and comply with all relevant laws and requirements regarding storing, transmitting, and retrieving data. In addition, human service professionals ensure that clients are aware of any issues and concerns related to confidentiality, service issues, and how technology might negatively or positively impact the helping relationship.

Responsibility to the Public and Society
STANDARD 10 Human service professionals provide services without discrimination or preference in regards to age, ethnicity, culture, race, ability, gender, language preference, religion, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, nationality, or other historically oppressed groups.

STANDARD 11 Human service professionals are knowledgeable about their cultures and communities within which they practice. They are aware of multiculturalism in society and its impact on the community as well as individuals within the community. They respect the cultures and beliefs of individuals and groups.

STANDARD 12 Human service professionals are aware of local, state, and federal laws. They advocate for change in regulations and statutes when such legislation conflicts with ethical guidelines and/or client rights. Where laws are harmful to individuals, groups, or communities, human service professionals consider the conflict between the values of obeying the law and the values of serving people and may decide to initiate social action.

STANDARD 13 Human service professionals stay informed about current social issues as they affect clients and communities. If appropriate to the helping relationship, they share this information with clients, groups and communities as part of their work.

STANDARD 14 Human service professionals are aware of social and political issues that differentially affect clients from diverse backgrounds.
STANDARD 15 Human service professionals provide a mechanism for identifying client needs and assets, calling attention to these needs and assets, and assisting in planning and mobilizing to advocate for those needs at the individual, community, and societal level when appropriate to the goals of the relationship.

STANDARD 16 Human service professionals advocate for social justice and seek to eliminate oppression. They raise awareness of underserved population in their communities and with the legislative system.

STANDARD 17 Human service professionals accurately represent their qualifications to the public. This includes, but is not limited to, their abilities, training, education, credentials, academic endeavors, and areas of expertise. They avoid the appearance of misrepresentation or impropriety and take immediate steps to correct it if it occurs.

STANDARD 18 Human service professionals describe the effectiveness of treatment programs, interventions and treatments, and/or techniques accurately, supported by data whenever possible.

Responsibility to Colleagues
STANDARD 19 Human service professionals avoid duplicating another professional’s helping relationship with a client. They consult with other professionals who are assisting the client in a different type of relationship when it is in the best interest of the client to do so. In addition, human services professionals seek ways to actively collaborate and coordinate with other professionals when appropriate.

STANDARD 20 When human service professionals have a conflict with a colleague, they first seek out the colleague in an attempt to manage the problem. If this effort fails, the professional then seeks the assistance of supervisors, consultants, or other professionals in efforts to address the conflict.

STANDARD 21 Human service professionals respond appropriately to unethical and problematic behavior of colleagues. Usually this means initially talking directly with the colleague and if no satisfactory resolution is achieved, reporting the colleague’s behavior to supervisory or administrative staff.

STANDARD 22 All consultations between human service professionals are kept private, unless to do so would result in harm to clients or communities.

Responsibility to Employers
STANDARD 23 To the extent possible, human service professionals adhere to commitments made to their employers.

STANDARD 24 Human service professionals participate in efforts to establish and maintain employment conditions which are conducive to high quality client services. Whenever possible, they assist in evaluating the effectiveness of the agency through reliable and valid assessment measures.

STANDARD 25 When a conflict arises between fulfilling the responsibility to the employer and the responsibility to the client, human service professionals work with all involved to manage the conflict.

Responsibility to the Profession
STANDARD 26 Human service professionals seek the training, experience, education and supervision necessary to ensure their effectiveness in working with culturally diverse individuals based on age, ethnicity, culture, race, ability, gender, language preference, religion, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, nationality, or other historically oppressive groups. In addition, they will strive to increase their competence in methods which are known to be the best fit for the population(s) with whom they work.

STANDARD 27 Human service professionals know the limit and scope of their professional knowledge and offer services only within their knowledge, skill base, and scope of practice.

STANDARD 28 Human service professionals seek appropriate consultation and supervision to assist in decision-making when there are legal, ethical or other dilemmas.
STANDARD 29 Human service professionals promote cooperation among related disciplines to foster professional growth and to optimize the impact of inter-professional collaboration on clients at all levels.

STANDARD 30 Human service professionals promote the continuing development of their profession. They encourage membership in professional associations, support research endeavors, foster educational advancement, advocate for appropriate legislative actions, and participate in other related professional activities.

STANDARD 31 Human service professionals continually seek out new and effective approaches to enhance their professional abilities and use techniques that are conceptually or evidence based. When practicing techniques that are experimental or new, they inform clients of the status of such techniques as well as the possible risks.

STANDARD 32 Human service professionals conduct research that adheres to all ethical principles, institutional standards, and scientific rigor. Such research takes into consideration cross-cultural bias and is reported in a manner that addressed any limitations.

STANDARD 33 Human service professionals make careful decisions about disclosing personal information while using social media, knowing that they reflect the profession of human services. In addition, they consider how their public conduct may reflect on themselves and their profession.

Responsibility to Self
STANDARD 34 Human service professionals are aware of their own cultural backgrounds, beliefs, values, and biases. They recognize the potential impact of their backgrounds on their relationships with others and work diligently to provide culturally competent service to all of their clients.

STANDARD 35 Human service professionals strive to develop and maintain healthy personal growth to ensure that they are capable of giving optimal services to clients. When they find that they are physically, emotionally, psychologically, or otherwise not able to offer such services, they identify alternative services for clients.

STANDARD 36 Human service professionals hold a commitment to lifelong learning and continually advance their knowledge and skills to serve clients more effectively.

Responsibility to Students
STANDARD 37 Human service educators develop and implement culturally sensitive knowledge, awareness, and teaching methodologies.

STANDARD 38 Human service educators are committed to the principles of access and inclusion and take all available and applicable steps to make education available to differently-abled students.

STANDARD 39 Human service educators demonstrate high standards of scholarship in their scholarship, pedagogy, and professional service and stay current in the field by being members of their professional associations, attending workshops and conferences, and reviewing and/or conducting research.

STANDARD 40 Human service educators recognize and acknowledge the contributions of students to the work of the educator in such activities as case material, grants, workshops, research, publications, and other related activities.

STANDARD 41 Human service educators monitor students' field experiences to ensure the quality of the placement site, supervisory experience, and learning experience towards the goals of personal, professional, academic, career, and civic development. When students experience potentially harmful events during field placements, educators provide reasonable investigation and response as necessary to safeguard the student.
STANDARD 42 Human service educators establish and uphold appropriate guidelines concerning student disclosure of sensitive/personal information which includes letting students have fair warning of any self-disclosure activities, allowing students to opt-out of in-depth self-disclosure activities when feasible, and ensuring that a mechanism is available to discuss and process such activities as needed.

STANDARD 43 Human service educators are aware that in their relationships with students, power and status are unequal. Human service educators are responsible to clearly define and maintain ethical and professional relationships with student; avoid conduct that is demeaning, embarrassing or exploitative of students; and always strive to treat students fairly, equally and without discrimination.
